

43, London Road,
Bedford.
Sept. 20th.

My dear Mother,

I have even less news than usual, I am afraid.

We expect to fly on October 5th, weather conditions being suitable, but before then Collins has to arrange what is called a Lift & Trim Trial on the ship which might require my assistance at Pulham. However, I expect to take a day or two off before then.

I shall spend the day in London to-morrow (Monday)

They are getting the ship ready for flight as you can see by the picture overleaf taken at Pulham by our representative.

The new mooring-mast here at Cardington is going on splendidly & is half built already. It will be a very imposing structure.

I will write you next on Tuesday I expect. Hope you enjoyed Hawla Lloyd.

We have had a very windy night, but to-day is milder.

Hope G'ma & Dad are well.

Give them my love,

Fondest love, my dear Mother,

Your own loving son
Harold.

STEWARO!

O.K. SIR! THEY'RE JUST TAKING THE
'CHATEAU YQUEM'
ABOARD.
SIR!

How's THE LOADING
GOING ON, HUNT?

COMING
SIR!

H.M.
R33

2000.327

43, London Road
Bedford

Sept. 20th

My Dear Mother

I have even less news than usual, I am afraid.

We expect to fly on October 5th, weather conditions being suitable, but before then Collins has to arrange what is called a Lift & Trim Trial on the ship which might require my assistance at Pulham. However, I expect to take a day or two off before then.

I shall spend the day in London to-morrow (Monday).

They are getting the ship ready for flight as you can see by the picture overleaf taken at Pulham by our representative.

The new mooring-mast here at Cardington is going on splendidly & is half built already. It will be a very imposing structure.

I will write you next on Tuesday I expect. Hope you enjoyed Harold Lloyd.

We have had a very windy night, but to-day is milder.

Hope G'ma & Dad are well.
Give them my love,
Fondest love, my dear Mother,

Your own loving son

Harold